MAISON ET OBJET 2018:

LET'S MEET THE SIX ITALIAN RISING TALENTS

Six influential figures from the design industry nominated six Italian rising talents. Today we are going to unveil who they are!

READ FULL ARTICLE

THE SIX RISING TALENTS

Federica Biasi nominated by Andrea Branzi.

"I chose Federica Biasi for her quintessential design and poetic ideas, which deliver subtle, yet very particular messages," commented Andre Branzi, her mentor for the Rising Talent Awards Italy.

THE SIX RISING TALENTS

Federico Peri nominated by Luca Nichetto.

"I've noticed in his work a natural inclination to design products as a way to create an experience through materials or the environment produced by the objects themselves," Italian designer Luca Nichetto commented.

Marco Lavit Nicora nominated by Rosita Missoni.

For fashion designer Rosita Missoni, "Marco Lavit Nicora is a young talent, heir to a long line of Italian designers who have placed function at the core of their practice and who have learned to use only the best materials and artisans our country has to offer to achieve that vision. I was especially moved by how light his pieces look, despite the fact that they are deeply anchored in classical design."

Antonio Facco nominated by Giulio Cappellini.

The reason why Giulio Cappellini, Art Director of the eponymous Italian brand, picked him as his Rising Talent is plain and simple: "Despite his young age, Antonio Facco is very attentive to changes in contemporary design and to communication. His projects are largely inspired by his observations of the younger generations, of their expectations and their behaviours."

Kensaku Oshiro nominated by Piero Lissoni.

For architect and designer Piero Lissoni, who has worked with him for eight years, Kensaku Oshiro's work bridges "the gap between the Japanese and Western perspectives on simplicity/complexity."

THE SIX RISING TALENTS

Guglielmo Poletti nominated by Rossana Orlandi.

“Like many other designers who graduated from this school, his work is strongly influenced by an experimental approach,” explained uber-famous contemporary design icon Rossana Orlandi.

CECILE MANZ

A VERSATILE DESIGNER

“My work goes from the inside out, and a project has to possess a sound, strong and relevant idea or functional justification before I address the actual physical design. My work has always revolved around simplicity, the process of working toward a pure, aesthetic and narrative object.”

ATOMIC

Atomic wall light is a mid-century modern lighting design inspired by the atomic discoveries of the mid-20th century. With multiple round shades that resemble the molecular composition of the atom, this interior wall light can give a fun twist to a contemporary home decor. Its body is handmade in brass and steel, with both a glossy black and a gold-plated finish. The lamp shades feature a glossy black lacquer on the exterior, while gold powder paint is used for the interior shade. It is with a modern vibe that this indoor wall light creates a statement of mid-century modern design in a contemporary living room, displaying each detail as a faithful reproduction of the glamorous 1950s.

MEOLA

With a discrete size, Meola table lamp is a design by DelightFULL that successfully showcases the merge between mid-century design and the contemporary influences of today's world. It boasts a stunning brass body with a nickel plated finish, and an aluminum-built shade lacquered a glossy black on the outside and a matte white on the inside, so as to not reflect the light in an uncomfortable way. This small table lamp has the minimalist vibe we all look for these days. It works beautifully as a bedroom table lamp, especially when used as a reading light for bed. An easy way to bring style into your master bedroom.

CLARK

With an expressive harmonic beauty, Clark modern pendant light is one of DelightFULL's most iconic pieces. This seemingly minimal lamp is handmade in brass, using the classic method of bending the brass twice into a rounded oblong shape, which allows for a bright cast of light. The standard finish is gold-plated, but it can also be customized in copper, nickel, or even receive an aged brass finish. The pole height is also adjustable in order to better fit your decor needs. Clark is a great example of how suspended light can embody all the class of the mid-century modern age. It is the perfect hanging lamp for your modern dining room, mid-century bedroom, or even hotel bar.
